

Noah's Descendants

Genesis 9:18-11:26

Puzzling Questions from an Extraordinary Time in History

Who in 6:1-4 married "the daughters of men"?

It is wiser to assume _____ agency here than fallen angels.

Does God ever change his mind?

I Samuel 15:29 and Malachi 3:6 affirm that God never repents or changes.

Genesis 6:6 is an expression of God's tenderness toward his creation.

Did the flood cover the whole earth?

It is accurate to conclude that the flood was _____ but not global.

The need for this event was limited only to where humanity had settled.

A global flood would require _____ times the water in our moisture cycle.

Was Noah really a "righteous and blameless" man? (6:9)

The Bible never hides the sins of its primary human characters.

What was the curse on Canaan in 9:24-25?

Noah had apparently already seen Ham's broken character at work in his son.

These verses give absolutely no support to human slavery or _____.

What's up with this tower that reaches to the heavens?

Ancient people (and modern people, too) highly valued what was _____.

The ancient notion of "the heavens" was quite literal and limited.

Acts chapter 2 is the theological flip side of Genesis chapter 11:

Instead of losing understanding, people can now hear each other.

Instead of God dividing the world, now he is uniting it (around Christ).